

Spring 2020

Dear Prospective Honors Scholar:

On behalf of the Ethel Waddell Githii Honors Program, I want to congratulate you on your outstanding academic achievement during your first year at Spelman College. This letter is intended to invite you to take a look at Honors, and decide whether its aims, opportunities and community of young women scholars would enhance your experience at Spelman.

The Honors Program is for students who find the challenges of their academic life invigorating, and who wish to form more lasting relationships with their intellectually curious and engaged peers and faculty. The Program offers experiences and preparation for a small group of women, and research / writing emphasis for those who plan to continue to graduate or professional school.

The Program strives to create a more vibrant intellectual and social environment for its members, as well as for the broader Spelman community. We do this through our public programming and collaborations, and by identifying courses designed to inspire students toward independent thinking, questioning, research.

For more information please visit <http://sites.spelman.edu/honorsprogram/>. Our offices are on the first floor of Giles if you wish to visit us.

Sincerely,
